About RDVV

The University saw the light of the day along with the formation of the state of Madhya Pradesh in 1956. The main objective of locating the University in this predominantly tribal and backward region of Madhya Pradesh was to provide quality education, train human resources and improve literacy and socio economic status of the population. In the year 1983, the University of Jabalpur was renamed as Rani Durgavati University as a mark of respect for the valorous Gond Queen (1524-1564) of Garha Mandla region.

The University caters a very large catchment area spread across seven districts Katni, Mandla, Dindori, Narsinghpur, Balaghat, Seoni and Jabalpur. The University family comprises of more than 200 under-graduate/post-graduate/professional affiliated colleges in addition to 26 University Teaching Departments.

Department of Library & Information Science

The library/information professionals must change and adapt to the new electronic information environment, learn about new technologies and be aware of their strengths and weaknesses. Our basic objective is to produce such library professionals who are able to cope up with the changing scenario and to stand up to the challenges of modern information society. With this vision RD University has introduced the graduate and post graduate programmes in this much sought after professional subject. Department of LIS was established in the year 1998 which is integrated part of the University Library. It carries two regular programme i.e. one year/two semester CBCS based B.Lib.I.Sc. and M.Lib.I.Sc.

The Department aims to set new standards for success based on the increasing quest for knowledge and excellence with a pragmatic mindset. The University has designed scientific, rational and structured systems that would provide a rigorous academic programme with necessary skills to enable the students to excel in their careers.
